PHILOSOPHY

CAREERS

Finally, Making Scents of New York

Perfumery has always been about head-turning. Now, perfumes have been turned on their head. For the first time in fragrance history, a major, full-blown fragrance collection was launched as an homage to a great city. The name of this fragrance collection is Bond No. 9 (which is also the address of its headquarters boutique at 9 Bond Street, in NoHo). The city it celebrates is none other than — could be no other than — New York.

The Bond No. 9 collection of women's, men's, and unisex eaux de parfum — has a dual mission: To restore artistry to perfumery, and to mark every New York neighborhood with a scent of its own. Each fragrance represents a specific downtown, midtown, or uptown locale or a city-wide sensibility. With new introductions in the coming seasons, Bond No. 9 infuses the island of Manhattan with scents.

New Fragrance Launch: "Washington Square"

November 2010

For Bond No. 9's high-spirited, holiday-time eau de parfum launch, the inspiration is Washington Square—that outspoken patch of greenery with built-in bocce courts, chess tables, Scrabble zone ... and (not to forget) its own triumphal arch.

New Fragrance Launch: "Cooper Square"

September 2010

Bond No. 9 zeroes in on that up-and-coming hotspot, Cooper Square, where the East Village meets NoHo, and the Bowery and the new über-Downtown begin. For this assertive new neighborhood, what else but an intense but contemporary eau de parfum?

New Fragrance Launch: "Andy Warhol Montauk"

June 2010

And now for the world's first summer sunset perfume, inspired by Andy Warhol's fantasy Montauk—where a quirkily quaint little fishing village greets the Studio 54 crowd. (Trust us, this fragrance is like no other.)

New Fragrance Launch: "Bond No. 9 High Line"

March 2010

Introducing Bond No. 9 High Line: The scent of wildflowers, green grasses ... and urban renewal

New Fragrance Launch: "Bond No. 9 Signature Perfume"
